A Row at the Dillon House

Saturdsy night Tom Hill was in Dillon's saloop, when he got into a dispute with a daughter of Noah Price, and it is alleged she slapped him. A friend undertook to take Hill away, but in some way he became involved in a difficulty with "Stony" Duffy, and the latter was cut on the head with a small pocket knife. Both men were arrested. Duffy gave bail and was released. Hill fought Officer Watson all the way to the lockup, and kept up his kicking there. The officer very properly clubbed him. Hill is a notorious case, and always gives trouble when arrested. Had he been treated severely long ago he might be more tractable now. A Miser's Donth. A Miser's Death.

Jas. Walker died recently at Uniontown, Belmont county. This calls to mind that he was one of the very strange specimens of humanity, widely known throughout Belmont and adjoining counties. He was possessed of an average mind, and in many respects was credited with being quite strewd. His peculiarities were evidently the result of an extreme, inordinate desire for money. During the summer he would subsist principally on clover and bran. He spent most of the winter season in bed le spent most of the winter season in bed He spent most of the winter season in bed and ate raw corn meal to avoid the extra expense of fuel. At one time he went to the Treasnry of the county to pay his taxes. After receiving his receipts he returned to his home in Uniontown, and counting over his money and the receipts found that he was short one cent, and he immediative started and walked all the mmediately started and walked all the way to St. Clairsville to have the mistake way to St. Clairaville to have the mistake corrected. The Treasurer, knowing the eccentricities of the old man, gave him a cent out of his own pocket rather than talk about the matter, but sure enough in balancing his cash account there was a cent too much. Walker died possessed of a fortune amounting to $20,000, most of which was invested in Government bonds to avoid taxation. At one time he walked to Cadiz and appeared at the bank there dressed only in blue cotton pantaloons, brown muslin shirt and straw hat—not another garment. He had walked barefooted from his residence with coupons on $10,000. A sister lived with him.

The Republican city primary election over in depth.

The Republican city primary election occurred at Steubenville Saturday, polls closing at 7 o'clock. The fight was an earnest one, and resulted in the nomination of the following ticket: First ward, City Council, George Swords, Board of Education, B. N. Lindsey; Assessor, William Higher Second ward, Board of Land Higher Second ward. Roard of natural destiny will supervise to attain it. He might have created us in a state of pure nature—with only a natural end, a certain rational happiness, followed perhaps by utter annihilation. If other worlds are inhabited, may not this be the ultimate end of all, even of their rational, intelligent inhabitants? But if created like us for heaven, who can assert that they have not been more faitful in their allegiance to their Divine Greator than the race of Adam, and in no need consequentage of the redemption wrought for us?

At the pedestrian contest at the Lafayette rink Saturday, Easter Brandt made nine miles and sixteen laps the first hour.
He walked ten bours and forty-five minintes and scored fifty-nine miles and seven laps, and left the track on account of no contestants. Beed left the track after walking twenty-two miles, Hastings discontinued at the end of the fifty-fith mile, Biggs left the track after making fifty miles and Johns, on account of an accident, gave it up when he had made bat sixteen miles. Brandt claims that he can walk seventy miles in twelve hours. In Saturday's race it is said he didn't ap parently exert himself in the least. The Wheeling parties advertised to be on hand failed to put in an appearance.

Hidespeers. During the past week Hon. John D. Alderson, clerk of the State Senate and one of the best known politicians in the State, has been lying dangerously ill with typhoid fever at his home in Nicholas county. A man named Helmick has been sent to the penitentiary from Lewis county by Judge Brannon for eight years. It was the third conviction for burglary, and Helmick could have been given a much longer term had the judge so desired. As it was he eats off early.

Thomas Furey yesterday was pretty badly bitten on the leg by a dog, in charge of Robinson & Rosenburg, who conduct a saloon. The dog was chained when he took hold of Mr. Furey, whose pants, (in addition to the leg being lacerated,) were ruined. It is said the dog is about the size of a young call, and is highly prized by its owner, who boards at the Sherman House.

A disturbance took place, at Watking!

A disturbance took place at Watkins' saloon, in the Standard addition, at Ætnaville, Saturday afternoon, in which a married woman, in quest of her husband, figured. She alleges that her husband spends too much of his time at this public Republican newspaper and printing office,) of which R. J.
